scene of the riot being known as Harlem's Little Italy.

Started by Boys.

A nineteen-year-old boy started the trouble. He got into a fight and was being worsted when a friend ran to his home and warned the fighter's sixteen-year-old brother. The latter loaded up two revolvers and sallied forth.

Approaching the crowd which had gathered to witness his brother's discomfiture, the youngster unlimbered both revolvers and fired. One man in the crowd fell and the rest scattered.
He then beat his brother's opponent over the head and wounded him with another shot.

Holds Up a Teamster.

By this time the crowd had plucked up courage and rushed back. The shooter calmly boarded a wagon and forced the driver to drive away while he sat on the rear end shooting at his pursuers. Several of them fired back, and the police are astonished that several persons were not killed.

The boy's ammunition soon ran out.
He was dragged from the wagon and the crowd was trampling him under foot when the police arrived. Knives were drawn by the infuriated Italians, and even after the police had surrounded the boy's prostrate form they had to batter many heads. Nearly 100 cuts were found on his body, many of them to the bone, and one piercing the lungs.

FIRST ATTACK IN FORCE.

Demonstration to Develop Capacity of Range-Finders.

FORT MONROE, Va., June 15.—The first attack in force on Fort Monroe took place this morning at 7 o'clock.
Eight of the biggest ships of Admiral Dickens' squadron formed an arc of a circle between Capes Henry and Charles. All of them headed for the fort and advanced at slow speed. The forming operation, although far out, was plainly visible, and everything was ready in ample time to meet the attack.

The first gun was fired at 7:10, and for half an hour a long range bombardment continued. The ships did not come closer than Bug Light, which is ten miles from the fort. The fleet consisted of the Texas and Hartford, four of the monitors and two smaller ships. The monitor Puritan was recognized in the fleet, indicating that she had succeeded in getting off the mud at Point Lookout, where she was fast yesterday. Because of the long range and the use of sub-caliber to indicate the fire, the demonstration was robbed of spectacular features which have characterized the night attacks. After a half hour of firing, during which the ships were advancing, they turned in a broad circle and proceeded back from their starting point and were soon out of view.

The demonstration is taken to comply with that part of the exercises requiring a "run by" in daylight to develop the capacity and accuracy of the range-finding and big gun and mortar fire of the batteries.

stock relieved the situation, and will further relieve it if he gives the names of all the policy holders who joined him in that action. There should be no mystery about it. As a matter of fact, the mystery which has surrounded this whole subject in the past has resulted in inferences far beyond the real facts.

A policy of frank publicity should be pursued."

Henry C. Frick Counsels Publicity in Equitable Matters.

NEW YORK, June 15.—For the first time since he presented his report of the Equitable investigation, Henry C.
Frick is quoted as having spoken of the society's affairs.

"When the board of directors of the Equitable society failed," he said, "to adopt the report, or any part of it, of the committee they appointed to investigate the present management, of course my connection with the society

WINKING CLEARANCE of READY TO WEAR GARMENTS Keith-O'Brien Summer Sale Stylish Apparel

We do not believe in waiting until the demand for seasonable goods wanes, therefore, our stock of Fashionable Suits and Garments have been cut to a rapid-selling point. It is now right in the midst of the season--and the opportunity is yours.

The Magnitude of This Sweeping Event Will Arouse Every Thoughtful Shopper.

It is a policy of the house to buy only first-class merchandise.
In buying suits the first question is: "How is the style; how well made is it; how about the quality?"
Our buyer of suits is instructed to pay extra if necessary to insure a more perfect fit and the addition of those little essentials which go to make a suit or garment more satisfactory.
If the seams of a skirt are not bound, a better price is paid to have them bound.

Waists are seen to that they are well made; that there is extra length in the sleeve and in the waist.
If poor lace is found on lawn or organdie dresses the difference is paid to have a grade used that is more in keeping with our standard of quality.
And yet these particulars call for no advance in the final price.
Our friends are by this time familiar with this policy; and yet sometimes they buy elsewhere--only to note with regret the absence of these important features.
We guarantee every garment.
